

The Stoneham Public Library is very pleased to host the Summer group show of the Center for Emerging Artists during the month of August. The Center is operated by the ARC of East Middlesex, in Reading and has exhibited previously at the Library. The ARC has been supporting individuals with disabilities as well as their families since 1954. The Center, created in the year 2000 fosters the artistic talents of individuals with disabilities. The Stoneham Public Library's August show will feature a variety of mediums including watercolors, mixed media and prints. The Library will also display the Center's new jewelry line called Natural Elegance.
